police station Saturday afternoon and told the officer in charge that they had been in a collision with an automobile while riding their motorcycle in the vicinity of South Windham and had been bruised to some extent. The men claimed that they were in no way

Sunday morning Nicholas Jones and John Mulligan, both of this city, figured in an automobile accident on the corner of Main and Clark streets. Both men appeared at the police station and as no agreement could be reached between them they were told to appear in court Monday morning. Later in the day they again appeared at the station house and stated that an agreement had been reached, consequently they need not appear in this morning's session of court.

The accident happened as Jones was going up Main street on the right hand side of the road and Mulligan came out of Clark street on his right hand side of the road. The latter did not get ahead of the Clark car and consequently he was run into, smashing a fender and running board and spilling several cans of milk that were in his car.
